DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 19, 39 and 59 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Bell (US 5,422,989).

Bell discloses an user interface mechanism for interactively manipulating displayed registered images obtained from multiple sensors having diverse image collection geometries comprising the same method of displaying video images, comprising the steps of: receiving video images from one or more of sources (fig. 1), digitizing one or more of the images if not already in digital form (col. 7, ln. 24-43); displaying at least certain of the digitized images in separate windows on a display device, using a first, predetermined frame rate and a resolution associated with each window (first frame rate and resolution = whatever frame rate and resolution that is displaying in fig. 5) as specified in claim 19; wherein one or more video images is received through a network connection (fig. 1); and a display device associated with each source and a communication capability enabling an operator situated at the display for one source to view images, in separate windows, gathered by one or more different sources (figs. 4 and 5) as specified in claim 59.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-18, 20-38, 40-58 and 60- 74 are allowed.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

a. Yang et al (US 5,926,611) discloses a high resolution digital recorder and method using lossy and lossless compression technique.
